

This is another example of the large media companies attempting to eliminate competition using unfair laws. The satellite industry is always under government attack because pressure from broadcast and cable companies. It is time for fair and equal treatment for satellite broadcasters.